Grace Digital remote control app approved for iPhone®

San Diego, September, 2009 – Grace Digital Inc., a leading consumer electronics technology company launches their 1st iPhone and iPod Touch remote control application. The Grace Digital app enables the iPhone or iPod Touch to function as a wireless remote control for the entire family of Grace Digital Internet radios and media streamers.

The integration of the iPhone with Grace's Internet radio line-up provides users with the most cost effective single room or whole home audio solution in the market today. The app allows for complete control of your music on one or multiple Grace Internet radios with a tap of the finger from anywhere in your house – play the same music or different songs in any room from any radio.

'Consumers are replacing their old AM/FM Kitchen and bedside radios with our Internet radios', according to Greg Fadul Grace Digital's CMO. 'The driving factor is our radio's ability to broadcast over 17,000 radio stations from the US and world, Pandora, and Live365 with no annual or monthly fee.'

The Grace Digital application is available immediately for free from the Apple iTunes store. Follow this link to the iTunes Grace Digital remote control app or go to your iTunes search bar and type 'Grace Digital remote control'. For more information regarding the new Grace remote control please visit us at www.gracedigitalaudio.com/iphone.

The complete line up of Grace Digital internet radios is available directly on the Grace Digital web site at www.gracedigitalaudio.com. Select models are available at Best Buy, Frys, J&R Music, Ultimate Electronics, London Drugs (Canada) and other soon to be announced select regional and national retail locations.
